SkyBell HD keeps all your latest recorded videos stored in the cloud for up to 20 videos at a time. This can go fast if the doorbell is used a lot, so how to download videos from SkyBell HD to store them locally forever. RELATED: How to change the video quality of the SkyBell HD Doorbell Unlike most other video door clocks and Wi-Fi security cameras, which keep all recorded videos for a certain period of time, SkyBell HD does things differently. It will only keep 20 of the latest videos that it captures. So depending on how often it detects motion or button press, older videos can stay there for weeks, or disappear as little as a few days. So if SkyBell HD ends up capturing something remarkable, it may be worth downloading it locally to your device so you have it stored permanently without it falling off and automatically being deleted. Here's how to do it. Open the SkyBell HD app on your phone and you'll see the main screen with a log of your recorded videos at the bottom of the half. If you're using Android, you just need to find the video you want to download and press the download button to the right of the video. Give it a moment for the video to download and you will eventually get a pop-up window saying it was downloaded to your phone's Movies directory. On iPhone it is a little different. Instead of there being a dedicated download button front and center, swipe left on the video you want to download. From there, tap Download. Give you a few moments to download and you will receive a popup that lets you know that the video is now stored in your iPhone camera roll. That's all there is for it! Once you've downloaded the video to your phone, you can then share it with a variety of cloud storage services or send it to a friend, depending on the options you have available on your Android or iOS device.
